

Homes and Neighbourhoods are currently implementing a new housing management system. They have also recently upgraded their asset management and lettings systems. Better quality IT systems and data are required to deliver the services needed for the future. All of those systems will reach their ends of life during 2029 and will all be part of a wholesale approach to system consolidation.